PREFACE

Children are National assets. Their welfare should be of paramount concern for the Society. Unfortunately the trend of the day is to engage children born of poor and downtrodden parents in hazardous employments involving risk to life or limb. Obviously, the poor parents lured by the meagre financial contribution of the children connive at exposing the tender children to the hazards of hard labour in a work place. To ban the employment of children in hazardous jobs and to regulate the conditions of their services in those jobs, where they can be legally employed, the Child Labour (Prohibition & Regulation) Act has been enacted.

This booklet in simple and easily readable Tamil furnishes all the relevant information for the general public. Precisely with this end in view the Tamil Nadu State Legal Services Authority has engaged itself in releasing booklets on various enactments. This being one in the series, the efforts of this Authority is commendable.
